

So the Music Stops

Don't lie to me, now more than ever
Don't live with this alone
Were you ever going to share with anyone?
I stand, alone, and I remember
That the last thing to said to the world
Was 'so the music stops'

Is there fear in that heart of yours?
Do you believe the promises they made?
Are there doubts or second thoughts?
As you march towards the light
With your eyes still open...

Oh, have faith in the people you know
They won't let you down

Don't turn away from me forever
I found myself believing
There could be something more than this
Don't hide yourself away forever
And the last thing you said to the world
Was 'so the music stops'